

VENUESWEST DISABILITY ACCESS AND INCLUSION PLAN 2021 - 2026

CEO MESSAGE

I am very pleased to present VenuesWest's Disability Access and Inclusion Plan (DAIP) for the next five years.

Our Vision as Australia's leading provider of sport and entertainment venues and precincts means it is vitally important that we are connected to the entirety of our stakeholders and community and have a workforce that reflects the diversity of the work we do.

With millions of customers accessing our venues each year, this Plan aims to ensure that patrons of all abilities are able to easily access information about our products and services then make their way to and into our venues to enjoy the facilities we provide – whether that be for leisure, health and fitness or to attend an event. Meeting the needs of people with a disability is essential.

We constantly strive to ensure our buildings, no matter what their age, are well maintained and we will continue to identify areas of improvement.

VenuesWest's Signature Behaviours, which are embodied by staff and guide the way we engage with each other and our customers, reinforce our commitment to accessibility. This is best demonstrated by the behaviour "Together We Win", where we seek to build positive relationships, work collaboratively, and strive for diversity, equity, and accessibility.

The initiatives within our DAIP will be strengthened by further educating our employees, embedding what works well in our daily practices and continuously monitoring and evaluating our progress. This includes reporting that progress to our Executive team on a bi-annual basis and publishing details of new initiatives on our website.

I thank the Department of Communities, our Board member Priya Cooper, and members of the Working Group for their input into this Plan and I look forward to us continuing with our approach to addressing the access and inclusion barriers faced by members of the community.

DAVID EHERTON
Chief Executive Officer

INTRODUCTION

WHAT IS DISABILITY?

A disability is any continuing condition that restricts everyday activities. Disability can affect a person's capacity to communicate, interact with others, learn and get about independently. Disability may be permanent or episodic. Disability can be:

- Sensory – affecting vision or hearing
- Neurological – affecting a person's ability to control their movements
- Physical – affecting mobility and/or a person's ability to use their upper or lower body
- Intellectual – affecting a person's judgement, ability to learn and/or communicate
- Cognitive – affecting a person's thought processes, personality and memory
- Psychiatric – affecting a person's emotions, thought processes and behaviour

Some disability is hidden e.g., epilepsy, while others may be visible. A physical disability is the most common followed by intellectual/psychiatric and sensory. Many people with disability have multiple disabilities.

Disability affects one sixth of the Western Australian population. The number of Western Australians with disability is increasing partly due to population growth in the state but also because the incidence of disability increases with age. People may have a disability at any age, but the likelihood increases as people get older. According to the ABS survey, by the age of 60, half of all men and women will have acquired some form of disability.

THE IMPACT OF DISABILITY

While the degree and type of disability varies with individual circumstances, people with disability frequently report that they experience difficulty being independently mobile, or being able to see, hear or communicate. Consequently, people with disability face barriers with everyday activities such as hearing or understanding what is said, seeing small print, climbing stairs or understanding signage. The exact impact of a disability on the life of the individual varies according to several factors including:

- The specific nature and severity of the disability
- The person's strength, stamina, size, weight, and age
- The person's ability to cope
- The physical, social, and economic environment within which the person is.

WHAT IS ACCESSIBILITY?

Accessibility ensures that people with disability have equal access to employment, training and development, products and services, premises, communication, and information communication technology. Creating a community that is accessible and inclusive will minimise the effects of disability. Improving accessibility enables people with disabilities to move around independently and access day to day services bringing about increased quality of life; creating more independence and better social integration.

OBJECTIVE AND OUTCOMES

As members of the community, people with disabilities, their families and carers have the same rights as all people to access VenuesWest services. These rights are governed by both State and Commonwealth legislation which make it unlawful to discriminate against a person with a disability.

VenuesWest is committed to creating an environment where people with disability, their families and carers receive the same access to our venues, services, information and employment opportunities as other members of our community.

This Disability Access and Inclusion Plan (DAIP) aims to ensure a coordinated approach to achieving meaningful access and inclusion outcomes for people with disability.
